Owning a bar cart in your home is the equivalent to sophistication at its finest. This entertaining essential is not only useful in organizing your favorite spirits and glassware, they can also easily be a focal point of your room if you put an effort to make it as stylish as possible. Luckily, making the most of your bar cart is not hard. With a little bit of touch here and there, this elegant furniture will definitely be a conversational piece for your guests. Let's get the party started!

First and foremost, you will find it easier to decorate your bar cart if they complement the style of the rest of your space. Color-coordinate is also a good idea, just pick one color and decorate the bar cart with that color—starting from the liquor bottles color to the glassware. Speaking of liquor bottle, it really helps if those bottles have a pretty packaging, but with many of variations to choose from, this shouldn't be a concern.

Show off your fancy plates and glassware on your bar cart. Not only pretty to look at, it is also very convenient to just grab a glass to make a cocktail. Besides glassware, displaying your books is always going to be a great idea. Just stack 2 or 3 books and use them as a base to elevate a particularly pretty bottle. Leave a little bit of space on your bar cart and add a vase with a bouquet of pretty flowers to create a livelier vibe. If you want something different and more 'green', definitely try small plants or succulents.

The best thing about a bar cart is the fact that they are very versatile. Even if you don't want to use it to hold your liquor, you can still have it as a side table, a nightstand in your bedroom, a tower holder in your bathroom or a place to display your collection—the options are endless!
